

Bharti Public School (xii)-Business studies

Q.1.If the company does not provide the right place for physical and human resources which principle of management is violated?

Q.2.Why principals of management have gained importance these days?

Q.3.Which device helps subordinates of the same level of different departments to communicate directly in case of emergency?

Q.4.Why is it said that principles of management are flexible?

Q.5.Why is it said that management principles are evolutionary?

Q.6What is the positive effect of principle of division of work on the organization?

Q.7.What is the adverse effect of violation of principle of remuneration?

Q.8.Give an example of principle of equity?

Q.9.What is the objective of principle of unity of direction?

Q.10.Which principle of management suggests that employees should not be moved from their positions frequently?

Q.11.Which technique of scientific management gives high compensation to better performer?

Q.12.Which technique of scientific management seeks to find out one best way of doing a job?

Q.13.Which principle of Taylor advocates scientific enquiry as opposed to hit & trial?

Q.14.Which technique of scientific management has specialist foremen over workers?

Q.15.Nme two companies which have successfully implemented standardization & simplification of work?

Q.16.How does the technique of “time study ”help to improve the efficiency of workers?

Q.17.What is required to ensure harmony among workers &mangers?

Q.18.What is the basis of formation of scientific management?

Q.19.Which principle does functional foremanship violates?

Q.20.List any two principles of ‘scientific management ‘formulated by Taylor for managing an organization scientifically.

