Topic – REPORTED SPEECH (NARRATION)

There are two ways of reproducing the words of a speaker:

- You can reproduce the actual words of the speaker, or
- You can give only the substance or gist of his speech in your own words;

eg., Rekha said, "I am going to school."
 Rekha said that she was going to school.

In the first sentence, we give the exact words of the speaker. This is called Direct Speech.

In the second sentence, we do not reproduce the exact words of the speaker. Instead, we give the gist of what he said. This is called Indirect Speech.

TWO PARTS OF DIRECT SPEECH

The actual words of the speaker which are put within inverted commas are called Reported Speech.

The verb that introduces the reported speech is called Reporting Verb.

Let's understand this through an example:

Rekha said, "I am going to school."

(Reporting verb) (Reported Speech)

Important points about Direct Speech:

1. The direct speech is always placed within inverted commas.
2. The first word of the reported speech begins with a capital letter.
3. A comma is placed after the reporting verb to separate it from the rest of the sentence.

Important points about Indirect Speech:

1. No inverted commas are used in the indirect speech.
2. No comma is placed after said.
3. The reported speech is generally introduced by the conjunction that.
4. The tense of the verb in the reported speech is changed from the present to the past. Personal pronouns, possessive adjectives and words denoting nearness of time and position also change; as,

He said, 'I am going to meet my friend today.'
He said that he was going to meet his friend that day.

RULES FOR THE CHANGE OF TENSES

Assertive Sentences

- If the reporting verb is in the present tense or future tense, the tense of the verbs in the reported speech does not change. Eg.
(a) The boy says, "I am reading." (b) Sachin will say, "I learn a lesson."
 The boy says that he is reading Sachin will say that he learns a lesson.
- If the reporting verb is in the past tense, the tenses in the reported speech are changed into the past tense. Look at the following:

➤ Present Indefinite (do/does)	(did) Past Indefinite
➤ Present Continuous (Is are/am)	(was/were) Past Continuous
➤ Present Perfect (has/have)	(had) Past Perfect
➤ Past Indefinite (did)	(had done) Past Perfect
➤ Past Perfect (had done)	(had done) Past Perfect (no change)
➤ Past Continuous	Past Perfect Continuous
➤ shall	should
➤ will	would
➤ may	might
➤ can	could
- If the reported speech expresses a universal truth, a habitual fact, a historical fact, a geographical fact or a scientific fact, its tense is not changed. These are exceptions to the above rule.
(a) The teacher said, "The sun rises in the east."
 The teacher said that the sun rises in the east.
(b) My father said, "I go for a morning walk daily."
 My father said that he goes for a morning walk daily.

RULES FOR THE CHANGE OF PRONOUNS AND POSSESSIVE ADJECTIVES

- Pronouns and possessive adjectives of the first person (I, We) are changed into pronouns and possessive adjectives of the same person as that of the subject of the reporting verb. eg.,
 I said, "I am going to my native place."
 I said that I was going to my native place.
- Pronouns & possessive adjectives of the second person (You) are changed into pronouns and possessive adjectives of the same person as that of the object of the reporting verb. eg.,
 He said to me, "Your brother obeys to you."
 He told me that my brother obeyed to me.
- Pronouns and possessive adjectives of the third person (He, She, It, They, etc.) are not changed. eg.,
 I said, "She is washing her clothes."
 I said that she was washing her clothes

Note: If the reporting verb 'said' is followed by an object it is changed into 'told'. The verb told is not followed by the preposition to.

TIME EXPRESSIONS AND PLACE

The words indicating time or place are changed in the following manner in indirect speech:

Direct Speech	Indirect Speech	Direct Speech	Indirect Speech
this	that	tomorrow	the next day/the following day
these	those	yesterday	the previous day/the day before
now	then	tonight	that night
ago	before	next week	the following week
today	that day	here	there

Interrogative Sentences

1. The reporting verb is changed into ask, enquire, demand, etc.
2. No conjunction is used when the sentence begins with question words such as who, which, what, where, whose, whom, why, when, etc.
3. We use if or whether as a conjunction if the sentence begins with verbs like is, are, am, were, do, does, did, will, would, shall, should, can, could, etc.

Eg. Ratna said, "Where is the book?" Ratna asked me where the book was.
