CLASS: IX- DEMOCRATIC POLITICS
CHAPTER: 3-CONSTITUTIONAL DESIGN
WORKSHEET NO: 8

SUMMARY

As the supreme law of the country, the constitution determines the rights of citizens, the powers of the government and how the government should function.

In this chapter we ask some basic questions like why, how and by whom the constitutional design of a democracy is done? We also ask the question what values shape the constitution in a democracy.

We begin this chapter by looking at one recent instance of designing constitution for the democratic state of South Africa. And what happened in South Africa and how the South Africans (Rainbow Nation) went about this task of designing their constitution. Then we turn to study the salient features of our constitution, how it was made, what are its foundational values, and how it provides a good framework for the conduct of citizens' life and that of the government.

Following question answers should be written in the class work book:
